Overcome in a Cistern. Silas Hume, colored, was en gaged Tuesday in deepening a cistern for Mr. Mike Callery, at his home about a mile and a half from this city on the Versailles pike, and going down into the cistern too soon after he had fired a blast he felt himself being overcome by smoke and foul air caused by the burning powder, and at-tempted to climb out again, but just as he was nearing the top of ladder he was overcome and fell back, striking his head upon the rocks at the bottom of the cistern. The man who was helping him ran immediately for help, but before he could be gotten out life was extinct. The remains were brought to the home of Hume's in one of the Petry houses, near the penitentiary, where they were viewed by Coroner Dehoney id a jury, when a verdict was renthat the deceased came to his death by being overcome by foul air and falling into a cistern on the place of M. Callery, on the

REGULAR MEETING, Aug. 28,'94. The city council at its meeting release. Tuesday night received the petition of twenty-three citizens of Bellepoint asking that that faubourg be nnexed to the city of Frankfort. Although an ordinance was presented covering the case, it was referred to the ordinance commit-tee as required by law, and they were directed to advertise the mat

Councilman Utterback offered a resolution instructing the City Attorney to make a test case against some one for whom a pavement had been built in front of their property by the city.

The fire committee reported that they had been unable to agree on the price of the 1,000 feet of hose ordered by the city. The price ranged all the way from 47 to 90 cents per foot. The matter to 90 cents per foot. The matter was referred back to the committee to try and make the trade.

The street committee reported in favor of requiring certain prop-erty owners on Mero and intersecting streets to build gutters in front of their property. Lost, for the want of the two-thirds vote necessary.

Judge Jos. H. Lewis was allowed a rebate on his bank stock unlawfully assessed.

The finance committee was ordered to look up the assessments against the Mason-Foard Co. for the years 1886. 87 and '88.

The street entrance to the cellar of Holmes & Baird was discussed and the nuisance it produces, and it was referred to the committee to report an ordinance to require it to be closed up.

The council then adjourned until the next regular meeting night at 7:30 o'clock.

Teachers, Attention.

The examination of applicants to teach in the white schools of the county will be held at the office of Miss Lucy Pattie, County Superintendent, on Friday and Saturday, September 7th and 8th, The colored teachers will be ex amined at the same place on Friday and Saturday, September 14th and 15th.

A Small Fire.

Mr. Lee A. Owen's wood house, at Jett's Station, was burned Tuesday night. Tit was certainly the work of an incendiary, as there was no way for it to have caught fire, being some little distance from his dwelling and there had been no light or fire about it for some time. It seems that some secoundrel has a spite at Mr. Owen and is trying to burn him out. Several years ago his residence was burned, about a year ago his stable was also destroyed by fire, and now his outhouse. Mr. Owen is away from home, being in Washington City, and only his wife and servants were on the place. The loss on the building is about fifty dollars.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

GEO. A. LEWIS, Editor and Pub. FRANKFORT, SEPTEMBER 1, 1894.

An Old Weapon.

We have before us a flint-lock this century by McNaught, of Richmond, Virginia. It is a single barrel and shoots a ball about the street of the Devision of the street of the President of the Street Richmond, Virginia. It is a surgle barrel and shoots a ball about the size of the Derringer of to-day, the barrel being rifled only near the muzzle. The works are well preserved and but for the faint aeeding picking, would do as good service as when first made. The trigger is not exposed until full cocked, as it folds up into the grip, and there is a slide on top of the stock with a pin attached which, when slipped into position, the pan down of its being discharged accidentlate John Lewis, of Langollen, this county, and is on its way to every five planks were tied in septhe reunion of the Lewis family in Spottsylvania county, Virginia, next week, being the property of Mr. J. The Ex-Convict at Home.

Frankfort is not the only place troubled with the ex-convicts, as of poems. The young man fell the following from the Richmond Pantagraph shows that when sent home they are a nuisance:

Speedwell neighborhood was in a state of furor last week. Alf. Brooks, an ex convict of two terms, went into the school room of Miss Nettie Black, a young lady teacher near there, and used very insulting and vulgar language, drove one of the pupils away, and kept Miss Black and the other pupils for some time in fright. Thursday night a party of citizens armed themselves, hunted down the scoundrel and brought him to town where he now languishes in jail. Brooks bears the reputation of being a worthless character, and is continuously trying to terrorize the Speedwell neighborhood. He has been in the penitentiary twice already, once for murder and once for arson, and this time he should have meted out to him the full penalty of the law.

The Interior Journal gives the following instance of the efficacy of prayer: "The efficacy of prayer was demonstrated to a couple of young ladies here Tuesday. They had gone to the knobs for a cook and on their return got lost in the hills, and drove around almost hopelessly, till one suggested that they pray for deliverance. A short but fervid prayer ascended to the throne of grace, and almost before they had ended their petition a man appeared and piloted them to the big road. Verily, the prayers of the righteous availeth much."

The Glasgow Times is responsible for this: "Benjamin Franklin was lately whipped for stealing chickens, Thomas Jefferson was sent up for vagrancy, James Madison fined for getting drunk, Aaron Burr had his eye gouged out in a fight, Zachary Taylor robbed a widow of her spoons, John Wesley was caught breaking into a store, George Washington is on trial for window of the St. Charles attempting outrage, Andrew Jackson was shot in a negro bar-room, Martin Luther hung himself on rm and painfully bruising himself the garden palings while stealing bout the body.

As to the second game, the least said the better. At the beginning of the Lincks' half of the eighth the score was 13 to 0 in favor of the locals, and Tannehill had held the visitors down to three hits, striking out eight, but the Lincks managed to get three hits in succession in the eighth and scored In the ninth. Tannehill did the monkey act, and some of his support seemed unable to pick up ball, with the result that the visitors piled up eight scores in a very few minutes, and it seemed as if the game was to be thrown away. A more disgusted lot of fans never left the park. score was 13 to 9.

magneto telephones gradually coming into use in this city. The Midland Railway Co. have had a line in operation between the station in this city and Forks of Elkhorn for several months and the Capital Gas and Electric Light Co. are now putting up a line from their up town office to the gas and electric light works. The instruments are bought outright and when once in operation there is no rent to pay, and they give good service.

Our farmers have commenced cutting tobacco. The crop in our immediate section is good both as to quantity and quality.

The Owens Barbecue at Lex The Owens Barbecue at Lexington was perhaps the largest and most elegant political gathering ever assembled in the State. Trains, regular and specials, together with vehicles of every description, poured their thousands into the city, while the very heavens seemed to open and rain voters. Thirty thousand people, of whom seven thousand were beautiful women, were there. The Breckinridge crowd traced the hand writing on the wail. It was a great day; with great crowds, great dinner, great speeches and great enthusiasm.

past. The height of infamy is reached. The Breckinridge crowd have found the limit on the list of insults. There is no other to offer insults. There is no other to offer and the fight is now on in earnest. There is not a man in the Ashland District who does not know that W. C. P. Breckinridge is a base hypocrite, a dishonest embezzeier, a perjured liar and infamous libertine, and now to cap the climax, one of his trusted leaders comes forth with this proposition, to "breed the maidens of the Blue Grass, especially the daughters of tobacco men to this human monster." Every man in the Ashland District knows that should one breed a female hound to either Breckinridge or Leer he would involve the poor b—h in a thrall-dom of infamy from which she could never retrieve herself, and yet there are men who will vote for Breckinridge. O don't squirm and twist and say Billy is not responsible for what Leer says, for the man that does not know that Breckinridge, down deep in his dirty, fifthy heart would indorse that proposition, is a fool. We do not impugn any man's motives, but every man who votes on the 15th of September will do so with his eyes open. My countrymen, you know the truth, you cannot plead ignorance. Virtue and honor, vice and infamy, lie before you and you have your choice. There is no middle ground, you cannot escape. If you fail to resent this insult to the wives, mothers and daughters of the land you will write your name on the tablet of every true woman's memory as crawen cowards. Fail to pace the stamp of your displeasure upon the accursed, heli-hatched and heaven-damned villian who gave it utterance, and you record your epitaph high up on the monument of infamy.

To the Voters of Franklin County.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 1894. Frankford, N. Aug. 1994.

Vielding to the flattering and earnest solicitation of partial friends and representative citizens of all political faiths, I have, contrary to my purpose to never again stand for office, determined to make the race for County Judge at the November election, 1894. This is the most important office in the county government. In the hands of the County Judge are placed the liberties of the citizens in criminal trials before examining court, as also the moneyed interests of a large class of debtors and creditors, litigating matters of account in the quarterly court, besides the settlement and oversight of the estates of widows and orphans.

The taxing interests of the citizens is in the hands of the County Judge and the Magistrates.

So it will be seen that your County Judge wields a large influence in county affairs. No more taxes should be laid than are absolutely necessary to meet the bonded indebtedness at its maturity and the annual accruing interest thereon, together with the necessary amount to conduct the county government upon economic, Konest business principles. A past of the bonded debt should be met by the next generation, as they are to be equally benefited by it. It is local taxation and the distribution of the county and city taxpayer, for it must be met and is felt in proportion to the ability to meet it. Hierefore, it is the right of the citizen to demand of his county court the lowest per cent. of tax each year consistent with an economic, honest and impartial government, and to have this tax promptly collected, and honestly and fairly applied to the good of the entire county.

The good people of my native city and county have honored me time and again by electing me to different and important offices. My election for four successive terms to the office which I am soon to voluntarily surrender, while evidencing the partiality and most generous favor of my personal as well as political following, is an earnest of my faithful, impartial and successful discharge of duty in the past, and must be my guarantee for the future.

I have in no sense sought this office, and if I am elected to it I must be elected by the uncorrupted vote of the people, as I will not bring to bear any corrupting influences to obtain it. At the proper time I will visit the precincts of the county.

Respectfully,

Respectfully, W. H. SNEED.
